DIGITAL LEADERS IN HEALTH

An independant and non-profit Think Tank

● First Conference «Digital disruption»

Introduction
Pr Laurent Degos

Health policy must be re-considered due to citizens, industrials and health professionals expectations. They all ask for a digital health revolution considering digital as a strong driver for the transformation of health organization and healthcare.

Decisions makers need arguments about values in order to implement strongly digital in health and healthcare.

Through concrete examples and a focus on value-based care, the Think-shop Digital disruption will develop arguments for a new policy, in the continuity of the January 2017 OECD Conference «health for people» and of the Forum of SPH (Scientific Panel for Health), entitled «health research in a connected and participative society».
